She added that participants and leaders in the mentoring programs served as volunteers during an "Unplugged" program focused on compelling students to disconnect from video screens and contribute to outdoor activities. Ms. Douglas announced the incoming development of sports fields in April noting that some logistics and safety planning were being initiated.

Ms. Douglas recalled that Ward 4 Councilmember Daniel Peabody introduced phase 1 of the mental health program for Hyattsville City Police Department (HCPD) personnel which had been instituted and supplemented by mental health program manager Adrienne Augustus which had garnered interest from neighboring areas and departments. She reported that partnerships were being sought to assist with implementation of the overall encompassing mental health program and displayed an image of an HCPD officer addressing a mental health crisis which was peacefully resolved citing recent mental health training. She introduced a video of the local news covering the mental health initiative of the City.

Presentation

City Administrator Tracey Douglas introduced the item and introduced Stacie Whitesides of the Race and Equity Task Force (RETF) and Pete Reiniger of the Health, Wellness, and Recreation Advisory Committee (HWRAC) who would lead the presentation.

Ms. Whitesides began the presentation thanking Council for the opportunity and explained that the Joint Committee had been tasked with collecting, reviewing, and discussing potential new names for the City park known as Magruder Park. She supplemented that the new name should be relatable, inclusive, and should represent the diverse culture of the City as well as standing the test of time.

Mr. Reiniger reported that, in addition to the name change, a recommendation of the acknowledgement of the indigenous people to whom the land originally belonged to be represented in some permanent form within the Park and that the word "Community" be a part of the final name. He relayed the list of recommended names decided upon by the Joint

REGULAR MEETING OF THE CITY COUNCIL, HYATTSVILLE MD MONDAY, MARCH 15, 2021 7:00 PM

Committee as a result of resident feedback. The first names announced were as follows: David C. Driskell Community Park, Nacotchtank Community Park, and Unity Community Park and a brief description and rationale for recommendation was given.

Ms. Whitesides announced the two (2) remaining name recommendations as: Gateway Community Park and Inspiration Park explaining that the land was located on the northern side of the Gateway Arts District and the park would serve as a gateway to programs, activities, and possibilities. She continued that Inspiration Park was recommended as the Park itself could compel inspiration through nature, community, group activity, and the programming provided there could inspire participants to explore the world outside of their immediate environment. She noted that Inspiration Park would be the only name with which the word "Community" would not be added.

Councilmember Spell Wolf thanked the Joint Committee for their work on the renaming project stating that she supported a name that was inclusive to those from all walks of life and thanked Ward 5 Councilmember Joseph Solomon for challenging the Body to work together to rename the park and discard any ties of prejudice.

Councilmember Solomon thanked the Committees for their efforts stating that he put forward the motion, but it was the willingness on behalf of the community that brought the initiative back before Council after being researched, discussed, and assessed.

Ward 2 Councilmember Robert Croslin stated that appreciation was to the Hyattsville Historical Society who conducted thorough research and provided a foundation from which the Council, staff, and volunteers could work.

For Discussion

City Administrator Tracey Douglas stated that the item was an opportunity for Council to discuss and offer opinions and recommendations regarding the new name of Magruder Park and a decision would be made by City Council on April 5, 2021.

Ward 2 Councilmember Danny Schaible expressed that he was accepting of the proposals noting that he had viewed a documentary film about David Driskell on the recommendation of Councilmember Croslin and expressed an additional interest in honoring the indigenous people that were the original inhabitants of the land. He stated that improvements and upgrades to the park should be made reflective of the new name and local artists should be incorporated in the reimagining of the park.

Councilmember Solomon expressed support for “Inspiration Park” stating that “inspiration” encapsulated freedom and hope and would be a name and a theme that would serve future generations. He suggested that a name be given to the buildings set on the land as an opportunity to honor other important, associated, history as well as recommending a memorial acknowledging veterans.

Councilmember Solomon expressed opposition to naming the park after an individual as a themed, or ideal name would avoid any controversy encountered in future years. He reiterated that “Inspiration Park” would offer an invigorating feel for patrons and stated that it would be the responsibility of the Council to provide funding to improve the park and incorporate items that would compel inspiration.

Councilmember Croslin thanked the Joint Committee for their work and expressed support for naming the park after David C. Driskell stating that the City was lucky to have a world-renowned artist who spent most of his life as a resident and serving other residents of the City of Hyattsville. He opined that Mr. Driskell was an individual who helped Hyattsville be recognized and was a great reflection for the City’s ideals and vision.

Ward 3 Councilmember Ben Simasek stated that he was supportive of the park being named after David C. Driskell noting that he had succumbed to the COVID-19 virus during one of the most challenging years in recent history.

REGULAR MEETING OF THE CITY COUNCIL, HYATTSVILLE MD MONDAY, MARCH 15, 2021 7:00 PM

Ward 1 Councilmember Bart Lawrence expressed apprehension in naming a park after an individual and was supportive deciding on a name that would honor the indigenous landowners but noted that it was somewhat perverse that a group of people who were exterminated and removed from their land be honored by the same people responsible for their removal.

Ward 4 Councilmember Edouard Haba thanked those responsible for the effort and commended the narrowed list of names expressing his preference for an indigenous tribal name as opposed to an individual clarifying that the Body should move toward a name that will remain for decades in the future with the limited possibility for conflict or contention. He expressed support for “Nacotchtank” and “Inspiration Park” and noted that if “Unity” was chosen the word “Community” could be omitted to avoid redundancy.

Councilmember Simasek recognized that variances could be applied with the word “Community” in which the “unity” part of the larger world could be highlighted and other possibilities for word play could be presented. He stated that the Body should consider the wide support from participants that resulted in over a quarter of the votes submitted were for David C. Driskell Community Park.

Councilmember Spell Wolf stated that she preferred that the naming process be honored, and that the Council impose weighted interest for each name in association with the number of votes received. She expressed support for the incorporation of naming on-site buildings or structures.

Councilmember Schaible expressed his preference for “Nacotchtank” or “David C. Driskell Park” noting that he considered the comments of his colleagues, but still wanted naming the park after an individual to be an option. He reminded the Body that the item came to be in an attempt to correct historic error and honoring a resident such as David Driskell, a longtime Hyattsville community member who helped break racial barriers and succeed amid repeated challenges, would speak to the message that society was trying to relay.

Councilmember Haba concurred with the purpose of the item and noted that at the time of the original naming many believed William Magruder to be a great man and that over time these perspectives and opinions proved to be unfashionable and deemed unrespectable. He opined that the same thing could occur when naming the park after any individual and a name that would best transcend time should be chosen.

Councilmember Solomon argued that the presentation should not be misinterpreted and that even though a large number of votes were submitted for David Driskell it did not accurately reflect the overall opinion of the City’s residents. He noted that other names received a large number of submissions and were not ultimately included in the final list. He reiterated that the name should stand for several future generations.

Councilmember Croslin stated that the community at large was able to participate and their submissions should be respected. He explained that he so happened to be supportive of naming the park after David Driskell but also felt that it was in the interest of a majority of the City’s residents.

REGULAR MEETING OF THE CITY COUNCIL, HYATTSVILLE MD
MONDAY, MARCH 15, 2021 7:00 PM

11. Council Dialogue (8:30 p.m. - 8:40 p.m.)

Councilmember Solomon thanked the participating Committees for their work on the renaming and was appreciative of the update regarding WMATA.

Councilmember Haba provided best wishes and hoped that all were remaining safe.

Councilmember Simasek thanked staff, specifically Reggie Bagley for his work in establishing the City's vaccination site advising all to seek out the vaccination and schedule to receive it when given the opportunity. He cited a Ward 3 check-in on March 31.

Councilmember Lawrence mentioned Hyattsville being highlighted in local news and advised the community to stay safe and get vaccinated as they were able.

Councilmember Peabody expressed appreciation for his own vaccination and supported that everyone does the same so that society could return to things as they were.

Councilmember Schaible expressed appreciation for the number of candidates for the 2021 City Election and for residents continuing to be active in their community.

Councilmember Croslin expressed great appreciation for City staff relaying that he was continually impressed by their hard work.

Councilmember Spell Wolf thanked staff for their consistent efforts, recommended all receive their vaccine if available, and commended teachers for their multi-faceted responsibilities during the health crisis.

Councilmember Solomon inquired as to the City's shredding services to which Director of Public Works Lesley Riddle answered that a shredding event would be scheduled for April 10 with an additional event possible in May.

Interim Mayor Ward echoed the sentiments of his colleagues, briefly commenting on the renaming of Magruder Park and the 2021 City Election.
