Planning Committee 12 OCT. 23 I was always curious as to how decisions are made to construct and place parks, schools, shopping areas, transportation hubs, and houses in my community. Since these decisions affect every member of the community, in my opinion, it is important to have input from a variety of people in the community. I spent my early adult years as a blue collar worker; I have also helped several friends manage their small, blue collar business. Most of these people are the folks who work in the local small business, walk to Metro train stations, use the bus systems, have children in the public schools, use the local parks and recreation facilities, live in the rental and purchased homes and apartments, as well as patronize the local business. I think that my participation with the planning committee helps the City, the committee, and the community better understand the needs and wants of our community, our City government, and the developers. When the City Of Hyattsville, and others, decided to form a planning committee, I was very happy to become a part of that committee. Marshall
